ULI - the Urban Land Institute is a nonprofit education and research institute supported by its members. Our mission is to provide responsible leadership in the use of land in order to enhance our total environment. Established in 1936, the Institute today has more than 29,000 members around the globe representing the entire spectrum of the land use and development disciplines. Members include developers, builders, property owners, investors, architects, public officials, planners, real estate brokers, appraisers, attorneys, engineers, financiers, academics, students and librarians.

In this region, ULI Philadelphia encompasses nearly 800 members throughout Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey, and Delaware. We provide a forum for exchange of information about real estate and planning issues at the local and regional level; convene stakeholders to provide solutions to land use issues; and provide local community outreach services.
